

Do You Have Remaining Embryos?

One of your options is to donate your embryos to the family of your choice, allowing that family to have the baby they've been longing for. If you have remaining embryos, you may be facing your annual storage fee payment. Now may be a good time to consider embryo donation.

Will you donate your embryos or continue to store them?

FERTILITY CLINIC

Average annual storage fee $600

STORAGE →

Donation through the Snowflakes Embryo Adoption Program

← DONATION

Snowflakes pays for 12 months of storage
while the donor chooses
an adopting family

CRYOBANK

Donor pays shipping fees to Crybank

MATCH!

Adopting family pays to ship the embryos to a clinic of their choice

ADOPTING FAMILY'S CLINIC

Adopting Family may become pregnant!

PRICELESS
The gift of life

Placing your embryos for adoption gives them the opportunity to be born – rather than wait in frozen storage. You are empowered to select the adopting family for your embryos and communicate with them about children that are born. Choose life!